

INFORMATION FROM AND THROUGH EXPLORERS RE LABORATORY

I. The lab and explorers

A. General

MADL: (9-22-84) This work in the lab is accelerating the cellular changes I've been undergoing. I came with an unearthly energy and this is helping to stabilize my energy field in my body.

Also the work of Mr. Monroe with sound, he is tapping ancient _____. He is groping, searching. He is little by little accessing the sounds which living spirit, in which each soul resonates to its own peculiar vibratory being. It is both sound and light and fragrance. His sound source is yet united: the celestial music by mystics through the ages, the music of the seers.

When a body resonates to sounds of spirit, the body is quickened and the soul enters flesh more fully. Mr. Monroe's probing is accessing the mantra sounds, tones. Mr. Monroe is knowingly confining this development within a technological framework in order to precisely record developments. He is of the mystic realm and yet wishes to impart techniques and to convince _____ the language of the era which is of a technical bent.

The new lab arrangements will deepen developments. The individual explorers will be vehicles to . . . It will be possible to isolate the resonances, the individual mantras of explorers. This could be done without equipment. There are those in this work who have past-life training in this field. Mr. Monroe does, Rosemarie does, Mary Anne does. But with instruments he will refine the technique for the optimum frequencies to maximize fluidity of consciousness and communication.

I'm seeing a great ball of light that coalesces during a Gateway in that group of people. When they _____ they carry that incandescent contact with other dimensions and others of like vibratory quality. They are forming an energy grid that is a special mark of this Institute. The work in the lab is of another level, in that Gateway people are working through their life, the business of their lives. In the lab there is not that barrier. The life-form dissolves, is understood as illusory, as malleable, subject to the influx of destiny. Those who converge to be in this lab live still on earth but in essence dissolve their bodies. This auditory training accelerates that native gift in those who converge. These explorers, these fluid consciousnesses, are piercing the pole which has occluded (?) earth. They are creating a thought form of such intensity that never again on earth will paranormal gift and experience be confined to the memories of history and remote vastnesses such as the Himalayas. It is a native gift of man. This laboratory, seen from above, is like God's brand on the planet, the entry point for stupendous energy.

Those who come here must remember although we live in a god-less age, yet here in the heart of their beings, they access the Holy of Holies which is not of time or of space. It penetrates and indwells these coordinates, but is beyond time. Therefore, those who come here to learn and to serve, you are learning to pulse the heart beat of the universe. This is holy ground. Come, willing and humble, for through you God's light streams earthward, reawakening the very soul of man.

At first in this work, personal guides who have dedicated a part of their souls to guiding souls in body have assisted those in this work. They are in a certain dimensional contact with earth. As the ease of communication has solidified, guides of vaster dimensions have been looking in, waiting opportunity. There is a threshold, a window; windows are opening further and further into unmanifest realms, into guardian realms of the planet itself. As the explorers gain in translucence, as their resistance changes, new contacts are in the process of being forged.

MADL: (10-5-84) An apperture with light shining through - like a beam down on the lab area - has been in the making for some time - the laboratory pathways of the explorers. They're left planet (?) trials, which have coalesced to a tunnel of light. It is over the whole Institute but more intensely focused over the lab. It is as if those who help, as if the vibrational, the lines of light have been like a _____ in a roof of the two dimensions, of multi-dimensions interweaving.

What you are doing is on the mark. There is one possible thing, I don't think Mr. Monroe would like this though. The explorers who come need to be . . . No, this isn't clear . . .

I'm seeing various explorers and I don't know any of them and their faces are changing like kaleidoscopes, other images; it's as if the explorers will begin accessing not only guides and helpers, but other life times of power; that they will tend to meld with the center from which all those lives sprang and truly become all those faces. Explorers have known one another before, in other guises, in other lifetimes and as they will tend to be more of a united energy field as they become all of who they are because lives have intermeshed in the past.

It seems that you are setting up the matrix through which explorers will take the next step, and it will be an actual cellular transformation.

Many of the explorers have been involved in the healing field in the past. The healing will through the explorers flow outward to all that they touch in their world and will flow into the planetary matrix itself. The intensified vibration will help to seiftly . . . (fades out).

LLR: (9-26-84) Purposes of the lab: alignment, as a temporary receptor, a refractor of light; some kind of transmission of intelligence. Has to do with the physical site of the Institute.

The new booth is like a "fish bowl," according to Gregor.

JRJ: (10-10-84) Explorers should have a clear purpose re speaking and prophecy. James is stepping energy down to earth. A flow state is available. An opportunity to create a plasma for people like James to contain it. It is always available but you must have a clear purpose. Otherwise, disharmony. (How do we help with the clearing?) Know who they call God. Each surrender the self to the higher good. Your caring does much of the clearing now. So much love there. A moment of sharing the love, your heart would do much.

LLR: (10-10-84) Advice for explorers: it's good to approach the sessions in a meditative state, in a calm state of mind. A message for Bob: "vibrating off the ground" - got the feeling it was this building (lab).

MADL: (10-5-84) Explorers could sleep with a magnet above their crowns of heads to stabilize the swirling sort of energy that's rushing through the form. Each explorer is involved in his own little world but each explorer now to make time no matter what for cleansing meditations, letting light flood their form; not letting the trivia of the day enter in and clutter their minds because they are more vulnerable for a period while this is happening. Also, this they must personally do: avoid being trapped with people who are spiteful or determined to be ill. They need to stabilize their own accelerated, exhilarated, energy fields or it could, as it were, leak out through their weakest chakric light.

It would be helpful if explorers could utilize the deeper theta range in their seclusion, in their own life secretly to steady the flow.
